Cliffs, lush hills, forests, black sand beaches, caves, dolphins & whales in season ... The Vanira Lodge invites you to discover all these treasures in the comfort of its all-nature bungalows, real sculptures from natural materials, melted into the background ... A childhood dream!

Bungalows being settled amidst a tropical garden, despite insect repelling treatment, inoffensive bugs may be present in bungalows (ants, small lizards...).

Bungalow Terrasse AITO & kitchenette

A stunning view over the ocean. Single-storied and without a mezzanine, this bungalow is particularly attractive for families with young children and senior citizens. The touch of exoticism is provided by the ochre coating of the walls, obtained by mixing red soil and white sand, the rustic doors made of rough-hewn local wood, and the semi-external bathroom, built out of volcanic stones and integrated into the mountainside and the vegetation. Barbecue in the garden.

Bungalow Terrasse LICHEE & kitchenette

Deliberately original, this "fare" is accessible via a footbridge. The roof is green, with flowers growing on top of it! The bathroom is sheltered from view by a bamboo grove. This bungalow was built with great attention to detail: it has a mosaic of river stones, a laced-up guardrail, and an array of soji partitions. Its private garden, with barbecue, overlooks the ocean. With its 3 beds upstairs, it is ideal for families or friends.

Set right on the edge of the forest and resting on stilts, this “fare” seems to have been built up in the trees. Inside, wood also prevails. The floor is made of Kohu wood, the sink is in the shape of an “umete”, the doors and shelves are made of rough-hewn planks, and the furniture is made of branches that were simply barked and knotted, with a dash of color here and there provided by blue soji and bright “tifaifai”.
