Coconut's has a meal deal for you

With an abundance of fresh produce, Samoa can match any of the Pacific Islands when it comes to quality cuisine. Coconuts Beach Resort is one of those resorts where foodies will be right at home. Not only are their meals highly acclaimed, but they also have a famous meal deal, which many a guest has been tempted by! For USD$89.00 per person per day, guests enjoy a cooked breakfast, lunch (including packed gourmet picnics if you will be away for the day) and a three-course dinner.

The icing on the cake - unlimited (yes, unlimited) glasses of local beer, house wine or soft drinks at lunch and dinner! The Coconuts Meal Deal is available for pre-purchase only. A kid's version of the Meal Deal is available for half the cost of an adult. Please note: the Meal Deal must be booked for the entire stay, and by all guests staying in the room.

Lagoon villa makes waves at Seabreeze

Since the new Lagoon View Spa Pool Villa opened its doors at Seabreeze Resort, it's been receiving some rave reviews. Stuart, the General Manager of Seabreeze said 'Since releasing the new villa in June of this year, guests have told us they've loved the views, privacy, fit out, and of course the spa pool!'

The Lagoon View Spa Pool Villa is perfect for honeymooners and couples wanting to escape the children (at least for a little bit). And of course they get to enjoy the rest of this resort too – the private beach, a pool overlooking the beach and the superb open-air restaurant too!

There is a magical place in the heart of the South Pacific . . . called Samoa.

Return to Paradise acknowledge Lefaga

It was a real feather in the cap for Return to Paradise Resort and Spa when they won the Supreme Overall Award of Excellence at the 2019 Samoa Tourism Awards. But it wasn't just the resort that took pride in the achievement. The local Lefaga village has played a crucial role within the resort from the very beginning.

And to acknowledge this support, the resort invited the village to celebrate. "This award is a tribute to the Matais who had the vision to support the development of the resort and lease the land to us," said Resort General Manager Ramona Su'a Pale, also a daughter of Lefaga.

"It was my dream to win this award, and then to bring it back to the village to say 'thank you'". The resort's Paradise Kitchen was packed as all the landowner matais and their families gathered at Return to Paradise for a big celebration with management, staff, guests and shareholders. No doubt, a great night was had by all!

Aga Reef lend a hand to local community

Tourism is a key industry for many of the South Pacific islands, so it is always great to see benefits going back to the local community. Aga Reef Resort is one such property making a real effort to contribute. New Zealand pre-school teacher Rachel Hahn was a recent guest of the resort.

Aga Reef arranged a complimentary transfer for Rachel to visit the local Lalomanu pre-school, so that she could donate supplies that she and her colleagues had put together. The visit was posted on the resort's social media channels, which has helped raise awareness to many other guests who have gone on to donate to the local community too. Great stuff Aga Reef, keep up the good work!
